ESD NEWS

Prof. Jessika Trancik will participate in tonight’s (2/26) Communications Forum: Women in Science: A Panel Discussion, at 5pm in 66-110. The panel will also include Harvard’s Pardis Sabeti, a computational geneticist who investigates the evolution of disease, and will be moderated by MIT’s Rosalind Williams.

***

The new entity for data and systems seeks nominations for postdoctoral associates (PDAs). Details on the application process are available on the MIT job site (job number 11981). Applications are being accepted through April 15, 2015. Full details here.

PUBLICATION

“Coupling Human Mobility and Social Ties” - Jameson L. Toole, Carlos Herrera-Yaque, Christian M. Schneider, Marta C. Gonzalez - Journal of the Royal Society, Interface – published online February 25, 2015

IN THE MEDIA

John Sterman discusses the financial issues at the core of the problems for the MBTA “MBTA’s issues run deeper than the snow”
WBUR-FM (Audio) - February 17, 2015

***

Article cites work of ESD PhD student Maia Majumder “Middle East Mystery Disease Triggers Early Resurgence”
Scientific American – February 19, 2015

EVENTS

Tuesday, March 3, 2015
Spring 2015 LIDS Seminar Series (This session joint with SSRC.) "Endogenous Stratification in Randomized Experiments"
Alberto Abadie, Professor of Public Policy, John F. Kennedy School of Government, Harvard University
Location: 32-155
Time: 4pm; Reception to follow.
Monday, March 9, 2015
SDM Systems Thinking Webinar Series
System Architecture and Bitcoin: The Opportunities and Challenges
Sascha Boehme, SDM Alumnus and Consultant, Boehme BankIT Consulting
Time: noon-1pm

###